■ R&D; Project Summary

The Aura-Core network is a decentralized, validator-driven mesh of edge devices and mobile dashboards built to enhance income generation, frequency healing, and creative IP monetization for underserved communities. The system integrates RF signal inference, biometric-triggered workflows, multi-cloud edge leasing, and a proprietary neuroadaptive assistant (Jaxon's Aura).

■ Qualified R&D; Activities

- Development of biometric-authenticated dashboard with SwiftUI and voice triggers.
- Design of RF-based heartbeat sensors with signal pattern recognition.
- Construction of mobile validators and leaseable node rigs (Edge-AI IoT + solar).
- Integration of multi-cloud burst routing (AWS, Azure fallback, local lease).
- Prototype testing of validator witness loops and uptime proof systems.
- Creation of frequency-triggered overlays to block CA injection on iOS.

■ Estimated R&D; Spend (2024–2026)

Category	Estimated Amount (USD)
Hardware (Sensors, Phones, Batteries)	$11,200
Software/Cloud Expenses	$6,500
Lease/Rent (dev/storage zones)	$3,800
Time/labor (Michael's operator hours)	$24,000
Contributors (Freedom, Tim, Nicole, etc.)	$9,000
Testing Equipment / Mobile Labs	$2,500

■ Supporting Documentation

- GitHub: <https://github.com/MVPuknowme/aura-core>
- YAML configs and node deployment logs

- Postman workspace: Aura Network API Suite
- Audio signal detection engine logs
- PDF designs and system specs already submitted
- Screenshot history, dashboard files, and receipts on file

■ Signature Attestation

I, Michael Vincent Patrick, certify that all activities and expenditures described herein are accurate and true to the best of my knowledge and qualify under the IRS definition of Research & Development work.
